NARROW ESCAPE.

The Tabernacle Baptist Church, this city, narrowly missed being destroyed by fire late Saturday night. A new janitor was on duty and emptied hot ashes from the furnace into a trash barrel. During the night the trash ignited and only the accidental passing of a member, who took the pains to investigate the source of smoke he detected coming out from a basement window, brought about steps to check the flames before much damage was done. The blaze was just ready to burst out of the basement.

The North Carolina Ice Association will hold their annual meeting in this city Wednesday, February 10th. E. R. Conger is president, and William Dunn, of Newbern, is secretary.

State Treasurer B. R. Lacy has accepted an invitation to deliver his address on the Apostle Peter before the Y. M. C. A. of Charlotte Fobruary 21st.

Hon. R. B. Glenn, who is one of the most prominent candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor, to succeed Governor Aycock, will deliver an address in this city on Thursday night of this week before the B. B. B. class of the Tabernacle Baptist Church.

Sixteen of Bishop Smith's Appointments Changed.

pointments Changed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SALISBURY, N. C., Feb. S.—At the merning service of the Spencer Presbyterian Church yesterday the pastor, Rev. 1. M. Kerschner, tendered his resignation which was accepted, to take effect immediately. The action of the pastor was a great surprise to many. The congregation is now in the midst of a building movement, the new edifice being about one-half completed. The pastor has been the leader in the movement and has accomplished a great deal for the church. Rev. Mr. Kerschner is also pastor of the Chaethout Hill Presbytorian Church, near Salisbury, which pastorate he has not resigned. It is learned that he will continue to reside in Spencer.

It is stated that since the last session of the Western-Morth Airolina Conference, held at Allah Point in November, there have been sixteen changes in the appointments as made by Bishop A. Coke Smith at that time. Among the most recent transfers is one made last week, by which Rev. C. E. Stedman was removed from Vance Mill and Tabor Churches, in Rowan county, to Cottonville and Big Lick charges, in Stanley county. On Wednesday evening, 10th instant, beginning at 8 o'clock, there will be a meeting of Woman's Christian Temperance Union workers to commemorate the life and labors of Frances E. Willard, at the iesidence of the president of Constant Y, under whose auspices the meeting which was postponed from last week.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Miss Baker Endailey Becomes Bride of W. D. Robinson.

A quiet but beautiful marriage took place at the home of Mr. C. H. Endailey on the 3d instant, when his daughter, Baker, became the bride of Mr. William David Robinson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Perry. The home was artistically decorated with ferns, mistletoe, helly and white carnations, and a large crowd of the many friends of both parties graced the occasion. At 1:30 P. M. the strains of Mendelsohn's Wedding March, rendered by Miss Bertha Hamner, announced the entrance of the bridal party. Mr. A. B. Hamner, best man, entered the parlor with the groom, preceded by the bride, leaning on the arm of her sister, Miss Eisle Endalley, Mr. David Endalley was master of ceremony. The bride never looked more beautiful, and was handsomely dressed in a dark blue tallor-made suit of broad-David Robinson. The ceremony was perin a dark blue tallor-made suit of broadin a dark blue tailor-initie suit of bload-cloth, and carried white carnations. IN SCHOOL DAYS.

By WHITTIER

John Greenicaf Whittler, who was born 17th December, 1807, at Last Haverhill, and died at Hampton Falls, N. H., 7th September, 1892, is known as New England's Quaker poet. Whittler had but scanty early education. His mind was steeped in the Hible and his whole life reflected high aspiration and dimany, straightforwardness. His first published poem brought him into relationship with William Lloyd Garrison, the celebrated Abolitionist, through whose friendly services young Whittler was anabled to attend the Abolitionist, through whose friendly services young Whittler was anabled to attend the Allerwards he wrote for the press and successivity edited several magazines and papers, from which field of labor he was forced to with fraw win account of feeble health time to his writings, passing his life quietly at Danvers. He never married, but found his home life in the society of his mother and sister Elizabeth, who died in 1851.

TILL sits the school-house by the road, A ragged beggar sunning; Around it, still the sumeohs grow, And blackberry vines are running.

Within, the master's desk is seen, Deep scarred by raps official; The warping floor, the battered seats, The jack-knife's carved initial;

The charcoal frescos on its wall; Its door's worn sill, betraying The feet that, creeping slow to school, Went storming out to playing!

Long years ago a winter sun Shone over it at setting; Lit up its western window-panes, And low eaves' icy fretting.

It touched the tangled golden curls, And brown eyes full of grieving. Of one who still her steps delayed When all the school were leaving.

For near her stood the little boy. Her childish favor singled: His cap pulled low upon a face Where pride and shame were mingled. Pushing with restless feet the snow To right and left he lingered;— As restlessly her tiny hands The blue-checked apron figured.

He saw her lift her eyes; he felt The soft hand's light caressing, And heard the tremble of her voice As if a fault confessing.

"I'm sorry that I spelt the word:
I hate to go above you.
Because,"—the brown eyes lower fell,—
"Because, you see, I love you!"

Still memory to a gray-haired man That sweet child-face is showing. Dear girl! the grasses on her grave Have forty years been growing!

He lives to learn, in life's hard, school, How few who pass above him
Lament their triumph and his loss.
Like her,—because they love him.
